

providing you & your business with the legal help you need!

All businesses and commercial enterprises need legal help, either on a regular or occasional basis. You may be buying or selling your business, taking in a new partner/shareholder, buying, selling or leasing a property, expanding your business or reviewing contracts of employment.

At Latimer Hinks we have a commercial law team of experienced legal professionals who will provide the legal help and assistance you may need. The team possesses high levels of expertise - levels normally associated with city based law firms.

You will find our team approachable, knowledgeable, business like and supportive. Matters are dealt with swiftly and our advice will be clear, concise and practical.

we can help you with:

commercial property

- Buying or selling property
- Development work
- Leases and tenancies
- Option agreements
- Overseas investors

commercial law

- Commercial contracts
- Employment services
- Business start-ups, expansions and sales
- Succession planning

comments from the Legal 500, 2016

- the "Who's Who" of the Law

corporate & commercial

Nicholas Poole heads the team at Latimer Hinks Solicitors, which acts predominantly for SMEs. Poole is noted for his significant experience of sales and acquisitions in the care home sector.

commercial property

Latimer Hinks Solicitors' team is 'very quick to respond and doesn't baffle clients with legal jargon', Nicola Neilson and Neil Stevenson 'both have a wide range of knowledge and are quick to update clients'. Stevenson leads the team and recently acted for a client in the purchase of a hotel and subsequent planning permission to convert into apartments.

comments from the Legal 500, 2017

- the "Who's Who" of the Law -

commercial property

Latimer Hinks Solicitors fields 'an exceptionally professional and pragmatic' group, which includes Neil Stevenson, who is recommended for agricultural and renewable energy property issues; Nicola Neilson, who focuses on agricultural work; and the 'very diligent and trustworthy' Martin Williamson, who is the key name for residential property matters. Investment acquisition and disposal expert Adam Wood also advises on landed estates, mineral leases and secured lending mandates. Consultant Tim Haggie advises on landed estate acquisitions and management, mineral options, development contracts and promotion agreements.

comments from Chambers UK, 2018

- publication ranking solicitors and barristers

Well-respected regional practice. Able to provide expertise in partnership agreements, inheritance tax and succession planning issues, mine and mineral rights and renewable energy projects. Also noted for its work in rural telecoms and other diversification matters. Clients include farmers, landowners and landed estates. Strengths Sources say: "We find them very good at what they do. They have long experience and they are very well versed in agricultural matters."